Applications are invited for the Implementation Science Specialist position for the UC San Diego Dissemination and Implementation Science Center (UC San Diego DISC).

This is a full-time position for the newly established UC San Diego DISC focusing on dissemination and implementation science across UC San Diego Health Sciences. The mission of the UC San Diego DISC is to establish UC San Diego as a nationally and internationally recognized flagship for D&I Science through training, technical assistance, and research advancement. The UC San Diego DISC was funded through an initial three-year investment by Health Sciences. The UC San Diego DISC is housed within the Altman Clinical and Translational Research Institute (ACTRI) to facilitate linkages across Health Sciences.

The Implementation Science Specialist will work closely with the Executive Team of the UC San Diego DISC that includes Drs. Greg Aarons, Borsika Rabin, Nicole Stadnick, and Lauren Brookman-Frazee to coordinate all DISC-related activities.

Primary activities will include:

- Coordinating training and mentoring activities including setting up workshops and other educational programs
- Coordinating consultation services and journal club meetings
- Interacting with partners within and outside of UC San Diego
- Creating content and managing the DISC website and social media platforms
- Contributing to the development of interactive implementation science tools and decision aids
- Supporting evaluation of DISC activities and preparing evaluation reports
- Preparing scientific outputs including presentations and publications

Qualifications:

- Bachelor’s degree required; Masters level training or equivalent preferred in public health, psychology, social work, or related field
- Interest in dissemination and implementation science
- Prior experience or training in dissemination and implementation science are preferred, not required
- Demonstrated ability to work well as part of a team
- Highly responsible and detail-oriented
- Excellent oral and written communication skills and interpersonal and organizational skills
- Prior experience managing training activities
- Experience with managing web content and social media

Minority applicants encouraged. Appointments are for three years, with an option for extension, pending budgetary approval. Salary is commensurate with experience.
